The objective of the DLLE First Term Training Program was to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the Department of Lifelong Learning and Extension (DLLE) at Prin. K. M. Kundnani College of Pharmacy. The program focused on educating students about DLLE's mission, emphasizing the importance of community involvement, personal development, and civic responsibility. It aimed to prepare students to actively participate in organizing various community-level and college-level activities. The training also introduced the Population Education Club (PEC) and provided insights into the upcoming Industrial Orientation Program (IOP), which the college plans to implement in the next academic year. By the end of the session, students were expected to clearly understand their roles, responsibilities, and the registration process for the 2024-25 academic year.

As an outcome of the training, students gained a detailed understanding of how DLLE Unit functions within the college and its impact on society. Led by Dr. Minum Saxena, the Field Coordinator, the session explained the goals of the PEC, which focuses on population awareness, and introduced the IOP, which will provide industrial exposure from the next year. In addition to learning about these specific initiatives, students developed essential skills such as teamwork, leadership, and event management. The training underscored the significance of community engagement and its role in fostering personal and professional growth. All students who attended are now eligible for DLLE registration for the 2024-25 academic year and are equipped to participate in upcoming activities that will benefit both the college and the community.
